AN IMPRESSIVE
RITE PERFORMED

begun; copy of the Advertiser of Honolulu, containing an account of the inception of the work of St. Elizabeth's House under Deaconess Drant, an account—in Chinese—of the history and work of St. Elizabeth's House, of Honolulu; list of the helpers in the Mission.

STONE IS LAID.

After the box containing these articles had been deposited in the stone the congregation sang "Christ Is Made the Sure Foundation," and then Deaconess Drant, who is in charge of the work, laid the first trowelful of mortar, being followed by the clergy present. Rev. Mr. Potwine then pronounced the stone laid with the following words: "In the faith of the ever-blessed Trinity, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, and in loving memory of Charlotte Elizabeth Proctor, we place this foundation-stone, and begin the erection of a building to be known as St. Elizabeth's House, and a house of worship to be called St. Elizabeth's Church. May the fear of God and the love of the brethren ever be taught and practiced here, in accordance with the principles of the church and in conformity with the truths of the everlasting Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ; Amen."

The entire congregation then joined in repeating the creed and in singing, "Our Father's God, to Thee," to the tune "America." Rev. Kong Yim Tet, rector of St. Peter's Chapel, then offered prayer in Chinese and Rev. John Osborne of St. Clement's pronounced the benediction. To the recessional hymn, "Fling Out the Banner," the procession reformed and marched back to the old buildings and disbanded.

THE NEW BUILDINGS.

The site on which the new buildings are being erected is at the north corner of King street and Pua lane, having a frontage of 150 feet on King and 220 feet on Pua lane. On the mauka side of the lot is the rectory, which is now well advanced towards completion. Just mauka of this is the site of the new church. This will be a beautiful structure 68 feet long with a nave 26 feet wide and a chancel 20x20 feet in size. The nave will seat 150 people with comfort. There is also to be a room for the organ 10 feet square and a vestry room 10x13.

The chancel is to be separated from the nave by a rood screen and will seat a choir of twenty. The sanctuary will be cut off from the chancel by the usual sanctuary rail and a beautiful altar will occupy it with a handsome carved wood reredos. Above the altar will be a memorial window to Mrs. Proctor. The whole structure is to be surmounted by a belfry containing a bell.

Ewa of the church will be St. Elizabeth's House proper. It will be 46x80 feet and two stories in height. The lower story will be devoted to class rooms separated by rolling partitions. The upper floor will be used by Deaconess Drant and her assistants. Separated by a small lanai from the main building will be a kitchen and behind this a laundry where people in the neighborhood may come to do their washing. On the King street and Pua lane sides will be a garden and on the Ewa-mauka corner an esplanade for games and drill. Dickey & Newcomb are the architects.

IT IS A MEMORIAL.

This splendid group of buildings, which will be a great boon to Deaconess Drant and her band of faithful workers, is the gift of W. A. Proctor of the firm of Procter & Gamble, the manufacturers of Ivory Soap, and is a memorial to his wife, Charlotte Elizabeth Proctor, who recently died. The school, which has been housed in very small quarters, is in a most thriving condition and was sorely in need of new buildings. It is composed almost entirely of Chinese, who are very enthusiastic in their work and loyal to their school.

Bishop Restarick has always kept this branch of the church work near to his heart. Being on a visit to the mainland he could not attend the ceremony of yesterday.

TARIFF TO BE ONE OF THE MAIN FEATURES

NEW YORK, September 6.—Chairman Cortelyou returned from Oyster Bay this afternoon and will leave for Chicago tomorrow. A meeting of the National Executive Committee was held today, attended by all members attached to the Eastern headquarters. There was a general discussion of what had been done in different parts of the country up to the present time and consultations as to what should be done in the future. This included the various subjects of assignment of speakers the topics which should be put forward and campaign issues which should be made prominent. It seemed to be the general opinion that a strong position should be maintained on the tariff policy of the party, and that the record of the party since it has been in power should be defended at every point.

POPULATION

CALCUTTA, Sept. 3.—That the census of India for 1901 has been published only lately gives an idea of the enormity of the task. The census proves that in 1901 the 1,254,612 square miles of the Indian Empire had a population of 117,459,193. Of these the Christians number 2,923,241, of whom 2,664,313 are natives. Of these latter two-fifths are Roman Catholics. In 1872 the Christians numbered 1,506,698, of whom 1,248,288 were natives. So the growth of Christianity is far more rapid than that of the general population.

HOW TASK WAS DONE.

The superintendent of the census says: "The greater part of the enumeration was done without recompense by an army of private individuals numbering more than a million and a quarter, who brought to their troublesome task a spirit of painstaking and occasionally grotesque accuracy which is unequalled anywhere in the world." In one province it was very difficult to number a certain assemblage of ascetics because they were under vows of silence.

In Rajputana the Bhils have ancient claims to be exempt from census. But their head men were impressed by the practical argument that there

FATAL FIGHT RESULTS.

At Port Campbell the census takers were attacked by the implacably hostile Jarawas of South Ormerman Island in the vicinity of Bengal and were compelled to fire on their assailants. The result was that there was one less Jarawa to be counted.

The enumerators discovered an unknown tribe, the Tabo, of South Andaman. There were only a few of these, because a short time before a contagious disease had spread among them and they had killed off carefully all whom it attacked.

Paper-Making in Japan.

"From the bark of trees and shrubs the Japanese make scores of papers, which are far ahead of our," says D. G. Fairchild in The National Geographic Magazine. "The walls of the Japanese houses are wooden frames covered with thin paper, which keeps out the wind but lets in the light, and when one compares these paper-walled 'doll houses' with the gloomy bamboo cabins of the inhabitants of the island of Java or the small-windowed huts of our forefathers, one realizes that without glass and in a rainy climate, these ingenious people have solved in a remarkable way the problem of lighting their dwellings and, at least in a measure, of keeping out the cold. Their oil papers are astonishingly cheap and durable. As a cover for his load of tea when a rain-storm overtakes him, the Japanese farmer spreads over it a tough, pliable cover of oiled paper, which is almost as impervious as tarpaulin and as light as gossamer. He has doubtless carried this cover for years, neatly packed away somewhere about his cart. The 'rikisha' coolies in the large cities wear rain-mantles of this oiled paper, which cost less than eighteen cents and last for a year or more with constant use. An oiled tissue paper, which is as tough as writing paper, can be had at the stationer's for wrapping up delicate articles. Grain and meal sacks are almost always made of bark paper in Japan, for it is not easily penetrated by weevils and other insects. But perhaps the most remarkable of all the papers which find a common use in the Japanese household are the leather papers of which the tobacco pouches and pipe cases are made. They are almost as tough as French kid, so translucent that one can nearly see through them, and as pliable and soft as calfskin. The material of which they are made is as thick as cardboard, but as flexible as kid."

Now that the Republican campaign managers are printing 250,000 copies of Bryan's remarks on Parker's nomination, to be circulated in the West, it looks as if they were crediting him with having more influence than they were willing to admit a few weeks ago.—Boston Herald.

The Brooklyn Eagle editorializes "Intellect in the Brutes," and instances a horse in Berlin that can distinguish colors. There are brutes in Georgia who can distinguish colors, but they don't do it through their intellect.—Boston Transcript.

Beer must be pure to be good; must be brewed only from the best materials; must be scientifically filtered, thoroughly aged, bottled at the brewery and sterilized after bottling. It must always be shipped in the bottle, for beer shipped in bulk and bottled at supply depots is sure to absorb impurities.

The Famous A.B.C. Beers

and free from all preservatives and chemicals used in other brands of bottled beers, which are injurious to the health. They are never sold in bulk—are the only beers bottled exclusively at the brewery. Made from the finest Bohemian hops, they are aged for months, then filtered and piped direct from the brewery vaults into bottles by means of hermetically closed filling machines. This prevents the beer from coming in contact with the outside air, and insures absolute freedom from bacteria. It also preserves its natural effervescence and zest.

Six Points of A.B.C. Excellence

- 1—Purity. We absolutely guarantee the purity of all our beers.
- 2—Flavor. This is the distinctive, individual characteristic of any beverage, peculiar to it alone, and is the quality that has made A. B. C. Bohemian Beer famous.
- 3—Brilliance, clearness and polish, proving perfect brewing and fermentation.
- 4—Clean Taste. No disagreeable foreign or aftertaste, proving scrupulous cleanliness during brewing process.
- 5—Keeping Quality. The most trying test for bottled beer. A. B. C. Bohemian will keep and retain all of its qualities under varying conditions.
- 6—Solid, Creamy Foam, denoting body age and excellence of brewing materials.
